

Contemporary Lacquer by
Yamazaki Mushū

Erik Thomsen LLC 美 Asian Art

Introduction

It has been three years since we introduced the work of Yamazaki Mushū to the West at the 2006 International Asian Art Fair in New York. Since then, his fine aesthetic sense, technical skill, and attention to detail have found wide admiration internationally.

This year's selection, comprising his 10 newest works from 2007 and 2008, shows again his consummate skill in the medium and his continued dedication to making art objects of the highest quality by traditional methods using the finest materials. Coming from an area with a long heritage in lacquer art and inspired by earlier artists, Mushū builds on these traditions and adds innovative and often surprising details. The chestnut netsuke (catalog nr. 10) with its worm hole on the side and its elaborate hidden decoration visible only through the the small himotōshi holes is a good example of such details.

It is with great pleasure that I present this fourth catalog of works by Yamazaki Mushū, to be introduced in March at our New York gallery.

Yamazaki Mushū

山崎夢舟

Kaga Lacquer Master

Yamazaki Atsushi was born in 1966, the eldest son of lacquer master Yamazaki Geishū. He started an apprenticeship with Kaga lacquer master Nakamura Shōzō in 1985 and became, in 1990, an independent lacquer master using the artist name Mushū. His artist name is composed of two characters meaning »boat« and »dream«; together, they express the wish to transport his dreams into reality.

Since then, he has worked in leading gold-lacquer studios and has exhibited regularly at numerous Japanese exhibitions, including the annual Modern Arts Exhibition; Japan Traditional Arts Exhibition; Japan Traditional Lacquer Arts Exhibition; Ishikawa Traditional Crafts Exhibition; Kenrokuen Tea Meeting Exhibition; Yamanaka Makie Lacquer Exhibition; and the Netsuke Carvers' New Creations Exhibition. He is member of the International Netsuke Carvers Association and has worked as the leading artist and artistic controller for Pelikan Pen's Lacquer Fountain Pen Project.

In 2006 he was showcased by Erik Thomsen Asian Art at the International Asian Art Fair, New York, marking his inaugural exhibition outside Japan. Since then, he has been featured in other exhibitions in New York, Palm Beach, Los Angeles, and San Francisco, as well as in Germany and Belgium. In 2007, his work was exhibited at the Museum of Arts and Design, New York, at the exhibition »Contemporary Netsuke: Masterful Miniatures.« In 2008 his work was included in the exhibition »The Hidden Code of Animals in Japanese Art« at The Clark Center for Japanese Art & Culture in Hanford, California.

During the annual New York Asia Week in March 2009, the latest works by Mushū will again be introduced at the Erik Thomsen LLC Asian Art gallery at 44 East 74th Street, New York.

Glossary

Techniques:	Makie	The Japanese gold lacquer technique in which powders of gold, metals or minerals are sprinkled onto still-wet lacquer. The sprinkled surface is then polished until it becomes glossy.	Nashiji	Small irregular flakes of gold foil, suspended at varying angles in many layers of translucent brown lacquer. The resulting shimmering surface is often used for the insides and bottoms of boxes.
	Hiramakie	Makie which has been raised above the surrounding area with several layers of lacquer.		Roiro	Black lacquer which has been polished to a mirror surface.
	Takamakie	Makie which has been raised and modeled with a mixture of lacquer and clay or charcoal. This is the same mixture used to prime the wood surface before applying the many layers of lacquer.		Objects:	Natsume	A cylindrical tea caddy used in the tea ceremony.
	Togidashi	Technique in which makie is first applied on the lacquer ground and then completely covered with additional layers of black lacquer, hiding the makie decoration. The surface is subsequently polished with fine pumice and powders until the decoration reappears, now incorporated into the totally flat polished surface.		Hira-natsume	A lower and wider form of the natsume .
	Kanshitsu	A method of building a body using only lacquer and cloth. Layers of cloth and lacquer are let dry over a wood form. When the body has stiffened, it is removed from the wood form and receives further layers of lacquer reinforced with cloth until the desired thickness has been reached. Since no wood is inside the body, it is light and extremely durable.		Kōgō	Incense box used in the tea ceremony.
Surfaces:	Hakeme	Decoration of relief parallel lines created with a stiff brush on partially hardened lacquer.	Okimono	A decorative object used as an alcove centerpiece.
	Kinji	Surface of fine gold dust which has been polished to a high gloss.	Inrō	A carrying case made of stacked tiny nested boxes for holding small objects such as seals and medicine. It was carried by hanging it from the obi , or sash.
	Kirigane	Small pieces of thick gold foil cut into squares, rectangles, or triangles and inlaid into the surface, forming brilliant accents, often as a mosaic.	Ojime	Literally a cord fastener, a bead worn between the inrō and the netsuke to keep the inrō cases together.
			Netsuke	A toggle formed as a small sculptural object, which is used to suspend an inrō medicine case or a tobacco pouch from the sash of a kimono .
			Himotōshi	The holes or channels through which the cord connecting a netsuke with an inrō is passed. In netsukes the himotōshi is generally a pair of holes close to each other.
			Tomobako	The original fitted wood box which an artist commissions for his art work. A tomobako usually bears the inscription, signature and seals of the artist.
